INTRODUCTION

Center for Agricultural Research and Ecological Studies (CARES) is a public, non-profit educational and research institution within Hanoi University of Agriculture (HUA).

Established by the Ministry of Education and Training in 2000, the CARES mandate is to help farmers enhance their knowledge and increase agricultural productivity, environmental protection and sustainable development in rural and peri-urban areas. The first priority of the activities is to serve poor people, especially disadvantaged groups and women.

The HUA's Administrative Building where CARES is located

Areas of Study

CARES conducts studies in the areas of agricultural ecology, rural sociology, natural resources management, environmental planning, farming system R&D, economics, marketing, and policy analysis.

Operational Approach

CARES is a scientific-technological organization that applies inter-disciplinary and multi-disciplinary approaches to research, training, education, and technological transfer, based on innovative and initiative concepts, ideas of its own staffs, the local people to whom they work with, and other scholars and scientists from Vietnamese and international organizations.

Cooperative Relationships

CARES cooperates with local and foreign individuals, institutions and organizations relevant to its areas of work. Its cooperative activities are conducted in accordance with the Vietnamese law and accepted recognized international practices.

ORGANISATIONAL STRUCTURE

CARES has six professional departments, a unit of administration, and an editorial and scientific advisory board, as shown below.

PERSONNEL

CARES currently has about thirty permanent full-time and seven part-time staff members. Most of the Center's staffs have obtained their post-graduate degrees from well-known universities in foreign countries such as Denmark, Japan, Netherlands, Philippines, Thailand, United States, etc.

PARTNERSHIPS, COLLABORATORS AND VISITING SCHOLARS

CARES's partners range from farmers and local officials to scientists and organizations within and outside Vietnam that are working on and interested in the same research areas of the Center. Within the country, CARES collaborates with a number of Provincial People's Committees (PPC) nationwide, where it conducts researches, trainings, and technology transfers. A number of national academic and research institutions are also partners of CARES.

CARES also cooperates with numerous foreign organizations. These organizations financially assist and jointly do research with CARES. Scientists and visiting scholars from some of these organizations have come to CARES as well.

7. Field Research on the Human Dimensions of Upland Agricultural Systems, 2004.
8. Introduction to GIS for Spatial Analysis of Agriculture and Livelihoods Systems, 2003 (for new staff).
9. Spatial Analysis in Research – Applications to Agricultural, Environmental and Household Economic Research, 2002.
10. Student's Capacity Building for Development of Mountainous Region in Vietnam, 2002.
11. Social Sciences Field Research Methods, 2002.
12. Human Dimensions of Sustainable Upland Resources Management, 1999 -2000.

INTERNATIONAL TRAINING

In terms of educational attainment, quite a large number of CARES's staffs have obtained Ph.D. and Master degrees since being established in 2000. All of them obtained the degree in a foreign well-known university of Japan, Luxemburg, Philippines, Thailand, the Netherlands, the U.S.

Besides, its personnel also attended a lot of short training courses and exchange programs in or/and outside of the country. Many researchers who are from collaborating partners of CARES were also participated in the courses and programs.

Ph.D. programs:

- Land Resources & Environment: 01
- Food Science and Technology: 01
- Ecology: 01
- Environmental Sociology: 01
- Agronomy: 01
- Forestry Policy: 01

Master programs:

- Sociology: 06
- Economics: 07
- Policy Analyses: 01
- Agronomy – Land Management: 02
- Environmental Sciences & Natural Resources Management (including GIS/RS): 05
- Number of scholarships 2006-2007: 05

Short training course:

- 112 overseas training
- 04 students join the exchanges with foreign students

The HUA's students during an exchange program at the Mahidol University, Thailand.
